

Little Chickies | Los Pollitos

Talk. Sing. Read. Write. Play.

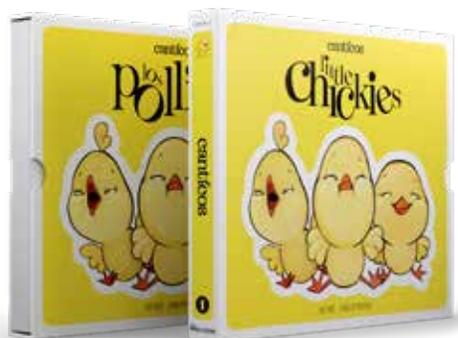

This book brings to life “Los Pollitos Dicen” - the quintessential classic Spanish nursery rhyme, in its original language, as well as in an equally adorable English language adaptation. This endearing song tells the story of three little chicks and their mother hen. The story serves as a metaphor for the demanding nature of babies and the unconditional love and care given to them by their parents.

Novelty book:

Reversible, accordion fold with multiple lift-the-flaps and a turn wheel. English on one side of the book, Spanish on the other.

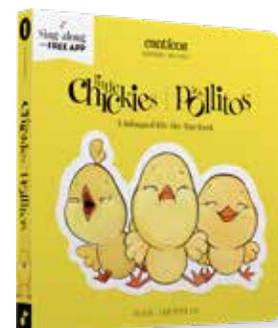

ISBN: 978-0996995900

Board book:

Board book: Multiple lift-the-flaps. English and Spanish on opposite pages.

ISBN: 978-1945635137

Talk.

Use the book to discuss topics like farm animals (the sounds they make, what they eat, where they live, etc.) and babies (how they communicate their needs and how parents respond).

This is a great book to discuss springtime and to cover holidays like Easter and Mother's Day.

Sing.

The simple lyrics and catchy tune sprinkled with the “pio pio pio” of the little chicks, will have little ones and their parents singing in both English and Spanish. Lyrics, as well as sing-along videos, are available at CanticosWorld.com. Not a Spanish speaker? No problem! Check out the free sing-along videos and app to hear the correct pronunciation.

Read.

Novelty book: Read the story once in English. Flip the book and read it in Spanish. Open the book across to see all spreads and: 1. Lay it flat on the floor to see the whole story at once or 2. Stand it up and connect the ends into a circle to sit inside and be surrounded by the story.

Board book: Pick one language to read the story through to the end. Start again in the second language.

Write.

The little ones who are learning their letters can practice tracing the shape of the letters in the book using their fingers. Little ones learning to write can practice writing simple words like ‘chick’ and ‘hen’ as well as onomatopoeic ones like ‘pio’ and ‘gulp’.

Play.

Get little ones going “pio pio pio” as they open and close their hands imitating a chick opening and closing its beak. Or get them flapping their ‘wings’ as they bend their arms at their elbows and raise them up and down.
